Auditions for CSU Dance and Opportunities for Non-Majors

Students across the University are encouraged to become part of CSU Dance classes and performances.

For non-majors, placement in technique classes depends on space availability and technical level. Placement assessment occurs during class the 1st week of the semester. Please contact the course instructor to let us know you are coming.

Technique class placement for majors and non-majors is also determined during Visit and Audition Days held each fall and spring. Please register online.

Auditions for faculty, student, and guest artist pieces are held at the beginning of each semester. Students must be enrolled in a dance technique course to audition for performances.

Dance Major Visit and Audition Days:
Friday, November 2, 2018;
Friday, February 15, 2019

Find out more: dance.colostate.edu or email emily.morgan@colostate.edu

At Colorado State University, dance students explore the many possibilities for movement expression, along with creative and scholarly examination, in a challenging and supportive environment. In addition to regular training in classical and contemporary dance techniques, the curriculum requires performance, choreography, pedagogy, production, and theoretical coursework. Numerous performance opportunities include four main stage productions each year and regular guest artist residencies and masterclasses.

Dance Classes Open to Non-Majors:
- D120A Beginning Modern Dance
  T/Th 9:30—10:45 a.m.
- D126 Improvisation
  M 11—11:50 a.m., W 11—12:40 p.m.
- D220A Intermediate Modern Dance
  T/TH 11—12:40 p.m.
- D220B Intermediate Ballet Technique
  M/W/F 9—10:40 a.m.
- D220C Intermediate Jazz Dance
  M/W 4—5:40 p.m.
- Limited seats available